A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.

A charity worker leading the fight to clear deadly landmines in Iraq has told how he dodged Iranian missiles after an army general linked to terror attacks was assassinated.

Frank Philip has spent the year avoiding danger after surviving an attack at Baghdad airport as tensions over the killing of Major General Qasem Solemani into the region, forcing Frank to relocate.